Digital Assets and Tokenisation – Educating & Working with Asia’s Private Clients

- It’s been a bumpy road this year - What is coming up next for digital assets?
- Are there any credible funds that exist in this space? How do clients access these funds?
- Why should Asia’s private clients even be considering investment in digital assets?
- Should Asia’s private banks and EAMs be promoting digital assets to their wealthier clients?
- How do banks and other intermediaries help educate investors on cryptocurrencies and on tokenisation and what will this achieve?
- What assets can be tokenised and what does this mean to investors?
- How are these developments being empowered by the blockchain and why is the blockchain considered such a core element of the future of financial transactions of all types?
- How are digital asset brokerages evolving, and are they being properly regulated, are they secure, and are they achieving the growth they expected?
- How do you safely and efficiently buy and then organise custody digital assets?
