9.55am	Presentation The future of investment advice

Mark Wightman Asia-Pacific Wealth & Asset Management Consulting Leader EY

- Financial well-being is becoming increasingly important given improvements in life expectancy, requiring greater planning. At the same time, there is a global shift in financial responsibility from the state to the individual, particularly around pensions, healthcare and education
- New generations are now more willing than ever to place their trust in non-traditional financial services providers; overall they have different needs, face more choice and are more transient
- In a world where there is greater access to information, digital innovation and breath of investment opportunities, who is best positioned to support investors' needs, and how can we work together to improve the financial well-being of everyone?

10.05am Presentation The quest for client loyalty and value: re-assessing the digital landscape

> Mark Nelligan Chief Executive Officer Pershing Singapore, a BNY Mellon company

This will discuss what matters most to clients and how digital advancements are changing the way clients select wealth management providers. Mark will examine key priorities for the HNW digital experiences, gaps in delivery and where firms should direct efforts to demonstrate value and deepen client loyalty. The purpose of this presentation is to engage the audience on several levels:

- Define past, present and future view of the digital landscape
- Identify technology experiences that impact loyalty
- Strategise the areas of high-impact for technology focus to drive engagement and loyalty

10.15am Presentation Digital wealth: automation, deployment, engagement

> John Robson Chief Commercial Officer Quantifeed

- A new digital wealth product begins with an idea what idea is that?
- Working with multi-stakeholder institutions
- Learning, iterating and growing
